On complaint of the mennonite Pavel Loewen against the local authorities concerning non-issuing him a passport for living out of his colony.	22.09.1852-13.03.1853	11	R&G	Complaint of Pavel Michajlovich Loewen, the colonist of Sparrau, to the name of Emperor Nickolaj Pavlovich against outrage of local authorities that forced him to return to Sparrau from the colony of Novaya Karakuba where he was living. Description of all his life, viz: in 1828 he got 65 des. of land in Sparrau, start building of house, established a brichfield but couldn't complete building because of desease. In 1838 storm knocked down roof from his house. Lack of money didn't let him overcome crisis and local authorities - the honorary guardian of mennonite colonies Johann Cornies, volost beisitzers Braun and Toews, schulz Nickolaj Nickel, - dispossessed him taking his property because of bad management. But since 1831 till 1841 he built 9 windmills, 7 threshers, 4 creameries, his property consisted of 5 german carts, 2 ploughs, 2 horses, 8 pairs of bullocks, 6 cows, 7 heads of cattle, 1 ox, 26 heads of sheep. Loewen had a family of 10 persons. He protested and was arrested. Later he was invated by the colonists Hirshenfelden and Hoppenlender to the colony of Rosenfeld for building mills, then rented from the landowner Apukhtin 460 des. of land for 5000 rub. in credit for 8 years. That time a fire happened, he got burns of legs and couldn't complete building mills for the Neuhoff colonist Blum and Eichwald colonist Hoene, and lost 1000 rub. In 1842 his household in Sparrau was sold to the mennonite of Grossweide Heirich Ewert for funny sum of 3000 silver rub. That was payed him with dediction of 100 rub. in favour of Sparrau Village office. He was forced to move to the rented land but during his movement 37 bullocks died because of epidemic. In 1847 Apukhtin's land was appointed for arrangement of Jewish colony # 6 of Isajevka and Loewen decided to resettle to the Greek colony of Novaya Karakuba, where he bought in 1845 a windmill, built creamery and established mills and creameries for colonists. Loewen asked to leave him there as exclusion in spite of the direction of the Minister of State Domains, Count Kiselev about living mennonites in their colonies. Explanations from the Molochna Mennonite District Office and decision of Guardian Committee to issue Loewen passport for living out of Sparrau.
